ROYAL NURSERIES - PORTADOWN - NORTHERN IRELAND

We like to think that the English rose has been helped by its sojourn in Ireland. We are the biggest rose breeders in the British Isles and are continually searching for new and improved roses for your gardens. Much more important, we believe the rose to be the Queen of all flowers. Consequently, it is our policy to produce a quality article which will grace your garden and give you complete satisfaction.

Sam McGredy writes

I have been interested in music ever since I was a kid. My home is covered with wires connecting up stereo, hi-fi and tape recorders. Much to my delight, many of my rose friends in Europe also like music, and we exchange records from time to time. The name Lili Marlene resulted from a sing-song amongst the Rose Fraternity in Holstein. Last year we were all captivated by Milord. The records were bought in Amsterdam, we all met at Portadown to view the roses and some weeks later, our new red Hybrid Tea was christened Milord in Copenhagen. I write all this as many customers ask how we name our roses.

Last year I wrote about Mischief and since then it has more than fulfilled my expectations by winning the President's Trophy for the best new rose of 1961. In fact, it beat my number one rose, Paddy McGredy. Evelyn Fison wasn't in the hunt, but I consider it as good a rose as Paddy McGredy. Some of my staff think it is better! We all like Sombrero. I think my exhibit of this under seedling number at the Summer National Rose Society Show was just about the nicest thing I have ever staged.

Those who like to exhibit roses will have fun with Isabel Ortiz. It should be a consistent winner. The same could be said for Diamant if it was disbudded. Both are fine roses from the Kordes stable. Like Mischief, I think Isabel Ortiz is a bit of a dark horse and could well spring into prominence this summer. I remember two years ago, when leaving Hamburg Airport, Reimer Kordes showed up with two wonderful blooms of Isabel and put them on the table without comment. It was his way of saying 'watch out for this one'.

I have said little about Paddy McGredy in this letter, because there isn't much to add to previous reports. I think it is going to be a great rose.

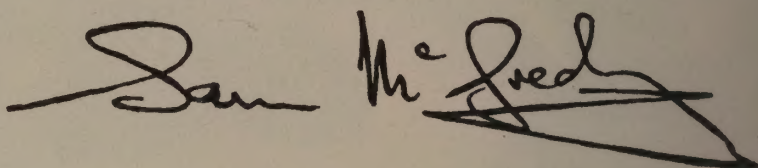

From my window I have watched our new office block rise from the ground. With air conditioning and three times as much space, we will be in fine shape to deal with your orders. I hope you will drop in if you are ever in Portadown. When the season is in full swing we get as many as a hundred letters a day from people wishing to change their order in some way. This, of course, takes some handling, on top of thousands of other letters, so please always quote your order number in any correspondence.

We deliver our orders in rotation; first come, first served. Consequently it pays to order early. We also let you know immediately when your order is going to be delivered, so that you can have the ground ready. This year we were dispatching over four thousand orders a week. Every customer got his roses at the right time for planting.

I look forward to your letters every morning. Your comments on different varieties make interesting reading. If there is any information or advice you want at any time, please do write.

Here's wishing you an enjoyable 1962 in your garden.

Yours sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, reading "Sam McGredy". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal line extending from the end of the name.

The Top Twenty

BY ARCHIE DICK

IF you purchase any of the 'Top Twenty' best sellers you can be confident you have selected an outstanding variety. This year you can be even more confident that you have selected a winner, because the best sellers include ten which were raised at Portadown, a really outstanding achievement. I can speak from personal experience and can assure readers that the hybridising programme undertaken by the McGredy Firm is so extensive that only a first rate variety is likely to satisfy the critical eye of Sam. McGredy or his staff.

No rose is yet perfect and I doubt if it ever will; after all, the work of the hybridiser must continue not cease! Among the 'Top Twenty' are included the best of our modern hybrid teas and floribundas; yes, and a few old ones are included because in certain colours they have not been bettered. Let me give you my opinion of these varieties as they have flourished, not failed, in my garden on the outskirts of Glasgow.

whose days are surely numbered. Evelyn Fison is not just another red floribunda, it is almost perfect, a wonderful grower, is disease resistant and produces blooms of an arresting bright red well spaced on large trusses; for this rose I predict a great future.

The pink Grandiflora Queen Elizabeth is too well known and requires no further introduction; as a background to a rose border or as a hedge it has few equals, but is always at its best when lightly pruned.

Iceberg is the only white, or perhaps I should be more accurate and say white tinted with pink, floribunda rose worth growing. Coming from Kordes one would expect it to be hardy, and indeed it makes an excellent shrub rose. It has few faults apart from a slight tendency to mildew on the bud stems. Anyone wishing to grow a white floribunda which will bloom continuously in all weathers must select Iceberg.

TOP TWENTY

Here is our estimate of our top-selling roses in 1962 based on our propagation figures.

1 Paddy McGredy (Fl.)	8 Daily Sketch (Fl.)	14 Milord (H.T.)
2 Evelyn Fison (Fl.)	9 Masquerade (Fl.)	15 Miss Ireland (H.T.)
3 Orangeade (Fl.)	10 Mischief (H.T.)	16 Peace (H.T.)
4 Super Star (H.T.)	11 Perfecta (H.T.)	17 Sutter's Gold (H.T.)
5 Queen Elizabeth (Fl.)	12 Ena Harkness (H.T.)	18 McGredy's Yellow (H.T.)
6 Piccadilly (H.T.)	13 Sombrero (Fl.)	19 Faust (Fl.)
7 Iceberg (Fl.)		20 Circus (Fl.)

Some time ago I wrote that Paddy McGredy was the most outstanding new rose I had ever seen. I will not withdraw that statement after a trial of only one year. This rose is not perfect, but it is surely the most outstanding floribunda rose yet introduced. A single truss of this beautiful pink variety might contain over twenty large flowers, each of perfect hybrid tea form, in bloom at one time. What a mass of colour to see a bed of this delightfully fragrant rose! Disbudded it can produce large exhibition blooms, but surely the grower will want to obtain the wonderful profusion of bloom when it grows naturally. The habit is excellent and the foliage clean, except for a trace of mildew. What more could one ask of a new rose?

I have started with floribundas so I might as well continue and introduce another real favourite of mine. For many years Frensham has held a commanding position amongst the red floribundas but how unsightly it was in 1961, owing to the widespread incidence of mildew. I think Evelyn Fison may well be the successor to Frensham

Now for a blaze of colour and in fact an ideal partner for Iceberg I must mention Orangeade. This has been the brightest rose in my garden for over three years and I can see it retaining that position for some time yet. Perhaps Orange Sensation might be a rival in colour, but Orangeade has a more desirable habit of growth and is entirely disease resistant.

If you wish a tall, strong growing yellow floribunda then Faust is an obvious choice. The blooms are of hybrid tea form and the ageing blooms, tinted pink, blend well with Queen Elizabeth. It is susceptible to mildew but has few other faults.

Masquerade was the first of the multi-coloured floribundas and while still a popular variety it is not one of my favourites. It produces a good first flush of bloom, but then follows a long time until it is in colour again. I think I really prefer the less vigorous Circus which has more petals and is of better form.

ORANGEADE

RUMBA
(FLORIBUNDA)

When I first saw Daily Sketch I thought I was looking at an undisbudded Perfecta—yes, and without roughness of the outer petals. This just about sums up Daily Sketch, a grand bedding rose with healthy foliage and an excellent upright habit. Of somewhat similar colour with an unusual blending of pink and cream is Sombrero which is a nice grower and should be most effective as a bedder.

And now to Hybrid Teas, still I admit my first favourites very largely on account of their perfect form, shape and more recently wider colour range. If I could grow only one rose I think I would select Perfecta. This rose produces large healthy upright plants with abundance of blooms which if somewhat rough in the early part of the season open so perfectly, even in wet weather. Perfecta lasts well when cut and is so useful for decorative arrangements that no-one can afford to be without it.

Next for a bright colour and a truly fragrant rose I would select Mischief. This Peace x Spartan seedling has produced sensational results in my garden and was a worthy winner of the President's Trophy for the best seedling in 1961. It is a wonderful grower and blooms continuously in all weathers.

Super Star is one of the best garden roses introduced in recent years. The colour of orangevermilion is entirely new in hybrid teas and a bed of this variety is truly arresting. Growth is vigorous and branching and blooms are always in evidence. While individual blooms are not large they are of good form and stand up fairly well to wet weather; this rose appears to be entirely resistant to disease, but unfortunately fragrance is not pronounced.

I am pleased to see Ena Harkness in the Top Twenty; although over 15 years old there are few better red roses to-day for either garden or exhibition use; my impressions of Milord are favourable and it is certainly floriferous and fragrant, but will it replace Ena?

For two decorative roses I commend Piccadilly and Miss Ireland. The former is vastly superior to any of its predecessors of similar colour while the latter, although sometimes subject to mildew, produces most delightfully coloured blooms which contrast with its lovely red foliage.

No garden is complete without a yellow rose and although almost 30 years old I can think of no purer or lovelier yellow rose than McGredy's Yellow when well grown. The orange yellow Sutter's Gold which is so popular in America is also worthy of a place. Finally we complete our list with Peace, undoubtedly the most popular rose in the World to-day—need I say more.

Introducing Paddy McGredy

Sam McGredy presents his sister Paddy with the first blooms of her new rose.

Paddy McGredy is the latest McGredy rose to carry the family name. Only the very cream of our novelties are so called. Margaret McGredy was the first in 1927, followed by McGredy's Eva and Mrs. Sam McGredy in 1929, McGredy's Yellow in 1933 and McGredy's Sunset in 1937.

Very few roses are good the world over, but we have had glowing reports on Paddy from as far afield as Denmark, New Zealand and California.

Be the first in your district with this lovely rose. For full details see page 18.

EVELYN FISON MCGREDY '62

A McGredy introduction

This is not just 'another red Floribunda'. In our opinion, it ranks with Paddy McGredy and Orangeade as one of the three best Floribundas we have ever raised. Bred from Moulin Rouge and Korona, it inherits all the good points of its parents. The truss is large and well spaced, with fully double brilliant red blooms. The colour never fades, even in the hottest sun. The strong healthy plants are covered with dark green, disease resistant foliage. PADDY MCGREDY MCGREDY '62

A McGredy introduction

For years we have been trying to marry the free-flowering habit of the Floribunda to the size and perfection of the Hybrid Tea. Paddy McGredy is the result of this research. We have never seen a rose with so many good characteristics. The plant is vigorous and free, without being too tall. It carries as many as thirty large blooms (good enough for an exhibition box) at one time. The individual blooms are of classical shape with a high centre and naturally reflexed petals. Deep rose pink is the predominant colour, but there are warm salmon overtones. Dark glossy green foliage sets the blooms off to perfection. Already thousands of trees have been booked for autumn delivery and we advise an early order if you want to be sure of getting this outstanding rose. Gold Medal, N.R.S. Award of Merit, R.H.S. Named in honour of the great Spanish Sherry Bodegas at Jerez. Garvey is a full sister of Piccadilly with all the good plant habits of that variety. The slightly globular bicolour pink blooms are held on really strong stems, while the dark foliage is just about as tough as leather. A variety that is always in bloom with no sleepy periods. ISABEL ORTIZ KORDES '62
A McGredy introduction
With Peace and Perfecta as parents, Isabel Ortiz was bound to be an outstanding rose. The blooms are of perfect form with long, reflexing petals. Its deep rose pink colouring has a bicolour effect, rather similar to Eden Rose. The plant inherits the upright growth and freedom of Perfecta, and the dark, disease resistant foliage of Peace. We have only a limited stock to offer. T.G.C. N.R.S., Gold Medal, Madrid. B.C.E.T. ... 10/6

Hybrid Teas (continued)*EachMILORD MCGREDY '62*A McGredy introduction*

Raised from Rubaiyat x Karl Herbst. Over the last ten years we have raised tens of thousands of red Hybrid Tea seedlings. This is the first one to pass our rigid tests. Milord has many of the plant characteristics of Rubaiyat and retains much of its fragrance. There is no tendency to blue in the rich bright red colour. We cut armfuls of perfect flowers here last year. They stood up too, without the weak necks which plague most of the red Hybrid Teas. A very lovely rose. B.C.E.F.M. ...

MISCHIEF MCGREDY '61*A McGredy introduction*

One of our rose testers writes 'Words fail me here but I can honestly say in my opinion this is the most beautiful rose I have ever grown, and it has certainly been the star of the year. It has grown very strongly to a nice height, appears to be never out of flower, is disease free and just laughs at rain or sun. The nicely shaped buds open to the most beautiful shaped rose I know and the coral-salmon colour is most appealing. People who have seen it have been really thrilled with it. An absolute world beater'. We confess that we are rather delighted with Mischief. T.G.C. and Gold Medal, N.R.S. President's International Trophy for the best new rose of 1961. B.C.E.F.M. ...

As the flower opens, the colour is brightened by the warm yellow at the base of the petals. The flower is big, with reflexing petals, it grows like a weed and the foliage is tough. Perfecta is a wonder rose.

PICCADILLY MCGREDY '60

A McGredy introduction

The perfect buds are a bright scarlet on the inside and gold on the outside. As the flower opens scarlet suffuses through the gold. At no time is there any loss of colour or dirtiness in the bloom as in all other bicolors. Piccadilly grows very vigorously as a seedling of McGredy's Yellow x Karl Herbst should. The foliage is a special highlight. When young it is a most attractive glossy red, turning a tough dark green colour as it matures. Piccadilly is undoubtedly the best scarlet/yellow bicolor on the market today. PAYMENT — Cash must accompany orders from unknown correspondents. All accounts are strictly net and due monthly; but we shall esteem it a favour if all Clients will post payments with their orders thus saving us unnecessary expense and you the annoyance of heart-breaking accounts.

PACKING—Where chargeable, all packing material is charged at cost price, and is not returnable.

NOTE—To send one plant costs as much in carriage and packing as six or even more.

FOREIGN ORDERS—Cash must accompany all orders outside the British Isles and must include carriage and packing. We advise ordering new varieties by early October.

CARRIAGE—All consignments are dispatched by Post or Passenger Train, Carriage Paid, the cost of carriage being charged on invoice of goods, or a separate account sent for this on orders where carriage is payable.

NOTE—All goods are delivered to the Railway Company in good order and condition and safely packed. In case of pilferage, or damage, all packages should be signed for as 'Not Examined', and the matter reported to us within 48 hours.

PARCEL POST—Approximately 24 bush roses can be sent in one parcel. Orders are numbered on receipt and executed in numerical order; this number is given on acknowledgment card or receipt and should be quoted in all correspondence.

PLANTS NOT IN STOCK—In the event of a variety not being in stock at time of ordering, we will send (unless specially requested not to do so) what, in our experience, we consider the next best kind. Please do not order plants not catalogued.

OUR GUARANTEE—We guarantee our plants to be healthy and true to name on leaving our nurseries. Provided they are planted correctly we further guarantee to replace any plant which fails to live and grow. This guarantee is valid until 1st June 1963.

DUTY—Portadown, Northern Ireland, is not in any way connected with Eire, and there are no Customs duties, declarations, regulations or other formalities in connection with goods consigned from Northern Ireland to Great Britain or vice versa.

ROSE PLANTS TO EIRE—We will pay duty on six or more trees.

ORDERS DISPATCHED PER POST—When Cash accompanies order we will send trees in lieu of duty, otherwise we will deduct amount when invoicing.

N.B.—We are not responsible for 1/- parcel Tax—no allowance will be made for this.

It pays to send cash with order.
